ORCHARD'S HAUNT IS BLOWN UP

DENVER, Sept. 23.—Fire caused by an explosion of some kind that shook the neighborhood for blocks and caused total destruction to the interior of the grocery and meat market long owned and conducted by the notorious Max Mallich in Globeville. Max Topitsky, the 19-year-old son of the proprietor of the place, H. Topitsky, narrowly escaped cremation.

This is the same building made notorious by Mallich, for it was where he ruled Globeville and the ignorant fellow countrymen of his who flocked to him with their earnings, and off of whom, by his high rates of usury, he became rich. This was where he entertained the notorious Harry Orchard, and where Orchard swore propositions to murder and burn were discussed with Mallich. The explosives, also made notorious by the Haywood trial, Orchard also declared were stored in Mallich's place.

DISCOVER THAT PRISON IS UNSAFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—The startling discovery was made today by City Physician James Watkins that the new city jail building at 64 Eddy street is in danger of collapse and that the occupancy of it is entirely unsafe. The building was completed last January by the then President of the Police Commission William H. Leahy, who rented it to the city for $25,000 a year. It was occupied jointly as a temporary city hall, police headquarters and city jail. The cells are full of prisoners. Dr. Watkins today, in pursuance of his duties as sanitary inspector, visited the building. He emerged a very grave and startled man, as he reported to the building inspector that the place was in an unsanitary condition and that an inspection of the basement showed him that the tubular iron pillars supporting the building had "buckled" and looked as though they were about to give way. An immediate inspection by the official named confirmed the reports. This evening he officially notified the board of public works that the building is unsafe for life and should be vacated immediately.

EVIDENCE AGAINST THE STANDARD OIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—It is understood that Frank B. Kellogg, the government's counsel in the suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Company, has important evidence in his possession bearing on the alleged relationship between railroad rebates and profits of the corporations in the past eight years. Questioning along this line is reserved until the present features are finished. Kellogg subpoenaed several railroad men, among them being officials of the Pennsylvania and New York Central. They were ordered to produce certain papers relative to transportation of oil. John Milburn, counsel for the Standard Oil, made a statement about the hearing, in which he said the company had nothing to conceal and was perfectly willing to place at Kellogg's disposal any of its records.

JUSTICE COMES TO JOHN HENNESSY

fair to involve the people's money. He moved for the dismissal on the grounds that the jury which had brought the verdict against Hennessy had petitioned the board of pardons for his pardon; also that his predecessor, who had prosecuted the case, had sent a strong petition to the same effect. Then Mr. McCarran gave his own reasons for asking for the dismissal, which were embodied in the following:

"May it please the court, John Hennessy, the defendant in this case, was indicted by the Grand Jury of Nye county, Nevada, for the crime of murder, for having taken the life of one Frank Ganahl, at Clifford, Nye county, Nevada. He was tried by a jury of his peers, and after a long deliberation that jury rendered a verdict of manslaughter, at the same time presenting to the judge of this court a communication in which they earnestly requested him to inflict only the lightest penalty known to the law. The judge of this court saw fit to disregard the communication of the jury and imposed a sentence of five years and eight months. The defendant was taken to the penitentiary in accordance with the judgment of this honorable court and there incarcerated for nearly thirteen months.

"In the meantime the case was taken by appeal to the Supreme Court and that tribunal handed down a decision reversing the judgment of the trial court and granting a new trial to the defendant. After the defendant had been sentenced and before the Supreme Court had considered the case, a petition was voluntarily signed by the twelve men constituting the trial jury, said petition being directed to the Board of Pardons of this State and requesting the immediate pardon and release of the said John Hennessy. The said petition as made and signed, is hereby affixed to this instrument and I ask that the same be filed herewith.

"Mr. W. B. Pittman, then district attorney of Nye county, Nevada, who had earnestly prosecuted the case in this court, saw fit to address a communication to the Board of Pardons, and his original letter over his signature I beg leave to affix hereto and make a part hereof.

"The foreman of the Grand Jury who investigated the case and brought the indictment, saw fit to join with the trial jury in its petition to the Board of Pardons, and his name, to wit, T. F. Bell, will be found affixed to the petition thus presented to that honorable board.

"Now may it please the court, in view of the fact that the defendant has served that sentence which the trial jury said he should serve, and in view of the further fact that my predecessor, Mr. Pittman, saw fit to address the Board of Pardons for the release of Hennessy, and in view of the decision of the Supreme Court of this State in reviewing this case, wherein it declared that the trial judge had erred in excluding certain evidence of threats, and in view of the further fact that the witnesses for the State in this case are more or less scattered, I believe it in justice to my office, and to the fulfillment of my oath and for the best interests of the State and the defendant that this case be dismissed, and the defendant be discharged and his bondsmen exonerated.

"In moving the dismissal of this case, I in no wise wish to express myself in reference to my belief as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. It is not within my province. A jury of twelve good men and true tried this case, and found the defendant guilty of manslaughter only after hours and hours of deliberation. Their verdict was only reached as a compromise and that compromise carried with it a most urgent plea to this tribunal for a minimum penalty of the law. I have my own personal feelings in this matter, and if it were possible for me to secure the conviction of the defendant in this case, I would not only in accordance with this feeling, but also with my duty, prosecute this case to the bitter end, but I know and fully realize the impossibility of securing a conviction in view of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case, and in view of the conditions I have set up in this motion for dismissal.

"Since the return of the defendant to the jurisdiction of this court, after the Supreme Court had reversed the case, I have made a diligent and careful study and used every resource within my power to ascertain all the facts and circumstances surrounding the killing of Frank Ganahl. I have held the defendant for some months under ball in order that I might in no wise act hastily in this matter. I have investigated the case to its very bottom, and in this dismissal, while it is not in accordance with my feelings, it is, I believe, in accordance with my duty, which is sacred to me in every particular.

"In the shooting which took place at Clifford, in which the defendant played the important part, and in which Frank Ganahl lost his life, and George B. Cole was wounded, I personally lost a warm and esteemed friend, namely Frank Ganahl. For this reason my personal feelings in this case have been and are at this time exceedingly intense, but I entered the office of district attorney to represent the people of this commonwealth, and my personal feelings must go down before my sworn duty. Hence in this dismissal, I do not in any wise exonerate the defendant, but by reason of the peculiar circumstances set up in this instrument, which I here place on file in this court, and by reason of those conditions, therefore I move this honorable court that this defendant be discharged and this action dismissed and his bondsmen released from further responsibility."

PLANT WRECKED BY DYNAMITE

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—A special to the Star from Joplin, Mo., says: At 1 o'clock this morning, the mining plant of the Tennessee Company of East Joplin, was blown up by dynamite, the loss being estimated at several thousand dollars. One charge was placed on top of the 100-horsepower boiler, another near the hub of the flywheel of the engine, and the third in an intricate portion of the pump machinery.

A week ago the News-Herald plant in Joplin was wrecked by dynamite. The same night a mining plant belonging to the Granby Mining Company was blown up.

Recently Patrick Hennessy, a Joplin councilman, found an exploded stick of dynamite below his front porch.
